

Conor Driscoll

Web Designer & Developer

Hi.

I am a designer, and a developer who has lived around the United States, in Amsterdam, and now call Richmond, Virginia my home. My goal is to experience new things, and learn about as many subjects as possible. I consider myself a generalist who focuses on user-centric experiences, and finding effective ways to solve problems. When I am not off building for the web, I devour podcasts, books and music. I love the sport of Judo, fitness, and bar trivia.
